Fairchild, Chairman of the Provisional State Committee, called the Anti-Hill Convention to order. The band in the hall and the bands of the Oswego, Oneida, Rochester and Buffaio delegations is the street outside, all playing at the same strains.

Mr. Fairchild made a triple bow-first, to the ladies, of whom there was a goodly number present; then to the delegates, and finally to the guests on the platform, among whom were very few well-known men. Nearly all the " big guns " occupied seats on the floor with their delegations. R. Ellery Anderson, John D. Kernan and ex-Mayor Grace were the most prominent figures on the platform. Three times three cheers greeted the ex-Mayor and Mr. Kernan as they entered the hall. The cheering was repeated when Mr. Fairchild began to speak. "Let me thank the patriotic Democrats who have so unselfishly aided this Movement," said he. "We ask nothing but jus-

Such extravagance goes against the grain of Democracy and is regarded as a sin to be repented of, for this reason is it that the Democratic party is at heart a treasury guardian against entravagant testioncies in or out of itsuit. Hence it is that the people want a Democratic in the White House who has the ringed strength and ugly honesty to keep expenditures within the rule, tradition and design of Democracy.

JACKSON'S VICTORY.

The Defeat of Slavin Gives Sports a Line on Corbett.

Kilrain's Conqueror Put Out in Ten Sharp Rounds.

The Result a Surprise and Disappointment to John L.

Frank Slavin's defeat by Peter Jackson last night in London has had a marked effect upon the betting on the Sullivan-Corbett match. It has given confidence to the Corbett men and made John L's supporters rather more onservative in their predictions. Jackson's victory is considered as a "line" upon Corbett's prowess, and in this way: Kilrain lasted seventy-five rounds with John L., but was defeated by Slavin in nine rounds. Corbett and Jackson fought sixtyne rounds to a draw, the decision in which ontest has been considered an injustice by Corbett's friends. Now Jackson has con quered the man who conquered Kilrain in quicker time than John L. did, and has lemonstrated again what science can do methods, and Jackson's style is very much like that of Corbett. The latter has improved a great deal since his fight with the black tactics. On this comparison it seems likely that Corbett will give John L a much stronger argument than was auticipated by the big under London prize ring rules, while the Fortunately no one was injured although Stavin-Kilrain and Jackson-Slavin battles
